

Health and Wellness Considerations for Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities January 19, 2011

Health Resources and Services Administration
U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

Background

- Legislative Authority: Section 2951 of the Affordable Care Act of 2010 (P.L. 111-148)
- $1.5 billion over 5 years with $100 m FY 2010

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

- Collaboration is Key
- Home visiting: part of an early childhood system

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

- Tribal Communities in collaboration with State Home Visiting Programs

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

- Unprecedented opportunity for Federal, State, and local collaboration to effect changes to improve health and well-being of vulnerable populations
- Addressing child development within life course and socio-ecological frameworks

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

The Life Course Framework

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

- Health in the earliest years helps children thrive and grow up to be healthy adults.
- A child's health starts with the mother's help during, and even before, pregnancy

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

- Home Visiting Program Outcomes:
 1. Maternal Health
 2. Child Health and development
 3. School readiness - cognitive, language, and social-emotional development

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

4. Prevention of child injuries and maltreatment
5. Parenting skills
6. Reductions in crime or domestic violence

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

7. Improvements in family economic self-sufficiency
8. Improvements in the coordination and referrals for other community resources and supports

Home Visiting Programs and Tribal Communities

- Support the development of community and statewide early childhood systems for effective home visiting programs
- Establish home visiting as a key early childhood strategy within a high quality, comprehensive early childhood system at the community and state level

Next Steps

- Prepare for the Needs Assessment
- Secure TA resources tailored to your Tribal concerns across all federal agency programs
- Exchange best practice information with state home visiting programs

Questions?

Contact Information

Audrey Yowell of HRSA
homevisiting@hhs.gov